ALUMNI TALK

DOLANETRI HANS (MSW 2019-21)

I completed my Master's in social work from the NYSASDRI School of Journalism and Social Work in the 2019–21 batch. I being a native of western Odisha, my dialect seemed different from the Dhenkanal region, so this time I was a little bit panicky to be assimilated in a new environment. But within a short span of time, I mingled with other students, seniors, and faculty. The facilities provided by NSJS were highly appreciated. Within my stay of nearly one year, I have felt the campus as my second home. I appreciate the individual attention that is paid to every student by the faculties. My two-year experience at NSJS was unforgettable, and I feel proud to be part of the institute.

JIBAN JYOTI NAYAK (MJMC 2019-21)

I am a student at the NYSASDRI School of Journalism and Social Work's Journalism and Mass Communication department for the 2019–21 batch. I liked the ambience of the campus. The cordiality of the administrative staff, faculties, and seniors made it possible to go ahead with my semesters in a time-bound manner. Besides the theoretical inputs, the practical work in print media, electronic media, and dissertation writing has sharpened my analytical ability of an event. I profusely express my gratitude to the NSJS management, faculties, my seniors, and my batchmates for providing a wonderful phase within my study period. After completing my MJMC course, I may be dissociated from the institute, but my heart will always be with them.

MAHESWAR BARLA (MSW 2019-21)

I completed my Masters in social work from the NYSASDRI School of Journalism and Social Work in the 2019–21 batch. Within the NSJS campus, I like the tranquil atmosphere, which boosts me for academic pursuits. The faculties have been very cooperative, and I admire their teaching style. The hostel and canteen charges are minimal to suit the pockets of students like me. Me and my batchmates were provided with ample exposure to participating in social work programmes of NYSASDRI, the parent organisation of NSJS, which has been a foundation for us to get involved with communities. I am able to relate my theoretical paper inputs with such exposures in the community. I feel very privileged to get admitted here for higher studies.

ASHISH RANJAN SATPATHY (MJMC 2019-21)

I am a student at the NYSASDRI School of Journalism and Social Work's Journalism and Social Work department for the 2019–21 batch. I joined the course and learned a lot. Inculcating the passion and drive for building a media career helped me dig deeper into preparing and editing news columns and documentaries. I found the faculties to be very helpful in finishing the assigned syllabus and conducting the practical assignments. I sincerely express my thanks to the NSJS team for making me a part of them for a period of two years.

Awareness program on gender based violence:

NSJS, along with the NYSASDRI Family Counseling Centre, organized an awareness programme on gender-based violence against women and girls on December 6, 2022, in K.P. High School, Govindpur, to celebrate the "16-day activism period to create awareness on gender-based violence", which focused on creating awareness among all the school's students about gender-based violence, legal provisions, and various opportunities available for them to become economically independent and self-reliant. All the staff of NSJS went to K.P. High School and organized a meeting among 9th and 10th grade students. A debate competition was also organized for the students and prize was distributed to the winners. The entire faculty at NSJS and the principal of K.P. High School gave speeches about gender-based violence and the role of women in our society.

Community projects and community research:

Students of the Social Work and Journalism departments mostly work with the community during their concurrent fieldwork, and they practise the theories by including themselves in the community and their social problems. Hence, as per the small study on the economical condition of the nearest community and village in Dhenkanal district, a micro-level initiative has been taken by the institution "NYSASDRI School of Journalism and Social Work" as an experimental way like economic rehabilitation and self-empowerment" of a differentially abled person. It is a splendid action and work for providing a financial support. Initially, the programme gave importance to self-help. So, SHGs formed with 10 members, and in the group, members are taking financial aid for their self-empowerment. In addition to this, students in the social work department mostly work with the community and try to find out about such needy people through the field visit.

Governing body meeting of NSJS:

The annual governing body meeting of the NSJS was held on February 1, 2023. All members of the management board are introduced. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Sarangadhar Samal. At this meeting, all members of the Governing Body and staff of NSJS welcomed Mr. Bijaya Kumar Pattanaik, the new principal of NSJS, and discussed future action plans for the development of NSJS.
